¹ International Collaborative Degree Programmes: In this questionnaire, we will refer to Dual Degree, Joint Degree and Offshore Programmes collectively as International Collaborative Degree Programmes or ICDP.

² Dual degree: A degree programme that is designed and delivered by two or more partner institutions in different countries. A student receives a qualification from each of the partner institutions. Such programmes are also referred to as "double" degrees.

³ Joint Degree: A degree programme that is designed and delivered by two or more partner institutions in different countries. A student receives a single qualification endorsed by each institution.

⁴ Offshore Programme: offshore education programmes lead to a degree or other credential. These initiatives may include online or face-to-face instruction and may or may not involve a partner institution in the country in which the programme is delivered. One particular model of offshore programmes is the branch campus, a physical presence, wholly or jointly owned and operated by the awarding institution, that delivers face-to-face instruction and includes traditional physical infrastructure such as a library, labs, classrooms, and faculty and staff offices.

3.) How did you hear about this programme?

4.) Why did you choose to attend this programme? (More than one possible answer) :

It is the only one which offers a degree course at a partner university (different from a more traditional student mobility programme such as Erasmus mobility).

To add an international scope to your training

To benefit from the academic reputation of the University(ies) involved

To benefit from the field of study excellence provided by UGA
